

Expert-Led Accessibility Training

Upskill your team with the Level Access Academy, our self-paced, on-demand digital accessibility training program mapped to specific job functions. It's a learning experience that provides teams with the relevant knowledge and skills to embed accessibility into every workflow.

A fresh approach to accessibility training

Everyone learns differently. Academy is specifically designed to help each member of your team apply accessibility best practices in their day-to-day work.

Practical problem solving:

Learning designed around everyday tasks drives true process improvement and builds the skills necessary to solve real-world problems.

Comprehensive course library:

Wide-ranging courses covering various aspects of accessibility cater to beginners and advanced learners alike. From web accessibility fundamentals to industry-specific modules, learners can explore a comprehensive knowledge library.

Expert instructors:

Live training courses feature expert instructors and accessibility specialists, teaching from extensive experience. Learners benefit from insights, actionable tips, and best practices from industry professionals who deeply understand their subject matter.

Learning paths for every role:

Role-specific learning paths include course curricula that meet the needs of specific functions within your organization. Each path is carefully curated to ensure team members focus on the most relevant accessibility training for their daily responsibilities.

On-demand learning:

Courses and resources are available to learners whenever they need them. Individuals are empowered to learn at their own pace, according to their diverse schedules and preferences.

Everything you need to succeed

Create a plan, track progress, and celebrate success with a holistic set of program management tools for learning, including:

- Organization-wide and individual reporting, plus alerts to keep learning on track.
- Completion badges and certificates, enabling learners to share achievements on LinkedIn.
- A variety of learning methods, alerts, and motivating features, promoting course completion and knowledge retention for every learner.

“The Level Access Academy is fabulous. The ability for my designers to work at their leisure and train at their own pace is an incredible value add. Whenever our team has downtime, they can ramp up their knowledge which benefits our customers, as well as their own professional development.”

Clasonda Armstrong-Grandison,
Director of User Experience,
United Airlines

“What we love most about Level Access is the ability to create training curriculums for many different roles across our organization, not just developers and testers. A shared understanding of accessibility, its impact, and practice is key to sustaining our focus.”

Lorraine Smigielski,
Product Design Manager,
Paylocity

Level-up your accessibility training

Level Access is ready with customized learning paths, strategies, and content that will enhance your internal expertise to best meet your organizational needs. Our Academy is integrated into our comprehensive digital accessibility solution, which combines advanced software with expert managed services.

level
access

LevelAccess.com

info@levelaccess.com